Their Speaker, the Honourable Lucien Lamoureux, said:—

“May it please Your Excellency,—

“The House of Commons has elected me their Speaker, though I am but little able to fulfil the important duties thus assigned to me.

“If in the performance of those duties, I should at any time fall into error, I pray that the fault may be imputed to me, and not to the Commons, whose servant I am, and who, through me, the better to enable them to discharge their duty to their Queen and Country, humbly claim all their undoubted rights and privileges, especially that they may have freedom of speech in their debates, access to Your Excellency’s person at all seasonable times, and that their proceedings may receive from Your Excellency the most favourable construction.”

The Honourable the Speaker of the Senate answered:—

“Mr. Speaker,—I am commanded by His Excellency the Governor General to declare to you that he freely confides in the duty and attachment of the House of Commons to Her Majesty’s Person and Government, and not doubting that their proceedings will be conducted with wisdom, temper and prudence, he grants, and upon all occasions will recognize and allow their constitutional privileges. I am commanded also to assure you that the Commons shall have ready access to His Excellency upon all seasonable occasions and that their proceedings, as well as your words and actions, will constantly receive from him the most favourable construction.”

His Excellency the Governor General was then pleased to open the Session by a Gracious Speech to both Houses, as follows:—

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I have the honour to welcome you to the first session of the 28th Parliament of Canada.

Across the land there are great expectations of what this Parliament will produce. My Ministers recognize the responsibility for leadership which these hopes entail. They are determined to do all that they can to carry out the mandate they received from the people of Canada in the recent general election. They recognize their duty to ensure that the wishes of Canadians concerning their Government be fulfilled as quickly and as completely as the general advantage will allow. At the same time my Government is conscious that aspirations and their realization have to be tempered by a sober awareness of reality. In the complexities of modern society, effective programs take time to develop and more time to implement. At all stages they require financial and intellectual resources which are not unlimited and must be used with careful planning and the hard judgement of priorities. It is a simple fact of life that everything cannot be done at once.

My Government has planned the legislative program of this first session in the context of a Parliament of normal duration. To make way for the consideration in later sessions of new programs that Ministers are already developing, it is proposed, during the current session, to elucidate priorities and to set in motion new policies. Of equal importance, though of far less drama, Parliament will be asked to deal with a host of matters essential to the smooth and up-to-date functioning of government which were not disposed of in the previous Parliament. My Government considers that its first responsibility, and the first responsibility of this Parliament, is to clear the accumulation of essential legislative adjustments, improvements and modernizations left over from the last Parliament. Unless they are cleared up promptly, efficient public administration and the effective operation of the Canadian economy and society will be hampered.

My Ministers believe that much of the delay and difficulty in the handling of Parliamentary business during recent years could have been avoided or reduced by the improvement of Parliamentary rules and procedures. It is their view that Canadians feel that Parliament is too far removed from the people it serves; its operations are too slow and ponderous; its deliberations are often insufficiently informed and its decisions are too few and too much delayed. In order that Parliamentary institutions may retain the confidence of the people, and in order that they may cope successfully with the vast scope and complexity of government today, it is essential that provision be made for legislative machinery that can act speedily on the large number of varied, detailed and complicated legislative, financial and policy questions that will be the normal, and indeed the growing, Parliamentary program of the future. My Government accords the greatest importance to Parliamentary reform and, to this end and as a matter of the highest priority, it has already had useful discussions with representatives of Opposition parties concerning changes in the rules and procedures of the House of Commons.

So that the Official Opposition, to which we in Canada give formal recognition as a vital part of our democratic process, as well as the other parties in opposition, may be in a position to cope more effectively with the heavy load of action and decision each session must face you will be asked to make new provision for the Official Opposition, and the other parties in their Parliamentary role. You will also be asked to consider additional facilities for the better discharge of the functions of Parliament generally.

My Government is deeply and irrevocably committed to the objectives of a just society and a prosperous economy in a peaceful world. My Ministers believe that the unity of the country is fundamental to the attainment of these goals, as—indeed—to the enjoyment by each Canadian of the maximum possible liberty, happiness and material well-being. Constitutional reform remains the best long-term guarantee of Canadian unity and my Ministers are directing officials in discussions with the Provinces which are proceeding well and will, through a series of intergovernmental conferences, lead to proposals that Parliament will wish to consider. In the meantime, however, to further the objective of a united Canada, you will be asked during the current session, to enact a totally new Official Languages Act based on the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism. You will also be asked to approve a new Publication of Statutes Act to change the way in which the law of our bilingual land is presented and made known in both the official languages of our land. You will also be asked to consider measures relating to Indians, to citizenship, to national symbols, to cultural agencies, to transportation of all kinds as well as to communications (including satellites), educational television, and the financing of the Post Office.

Some of these proposals involve the righting of wrongs and others the opening of opportunities long denied. Together they exemplify the essential connection between justice and national unity. The attainment of a just society is the cherished hope of civilized men. While perhaps more difficult to formulate for groups than for individuals, even the members of majorities—political, religious, linguistic or economic—must know what it is to suffer injustice. My Government is deeply concerned to provide and to ensure increased justice, dignity and recognition to the individual, particularly in an age which is characterized by large governments, industrial automation, social regimentation and old-fashioned laws. A great deal has been accomplished in recent years to make the Canadian society more just in terms of income distribution and security against the vicissitudes of life. Pensions for the aged, provision for the sick and for the needy have been made more effective by legislation passed in recent Parliaments and by action of the provinces. Notwithstanding such measures, poverty continues to exist in Canada. My Government recognizes that, but it also believes that it would be deluding and cruel to pretend that there is a simple, all-encompassing or instantaneously effective remedy. Poverty can be dealt with successfully and permanently only by continued and determined action in a variety of ways by all governments. For its part, Parliament can be assured that the federal government will contribute fully and assume leadership wherever it can properly do so. To this end, the proposals you will have for your consideration will include the establishment of a department charged with the objective of ensuring that people in all areas and regions of our country have as equal access as possible to the opportunities of Canada's economic development.

At the same time, there are other and broader elements vital to a just society, and my Ministers feel that these must receive, at this and in later sessions of Parliament, a degree of attention they have not had hitherto. Toward these ends, you will be asked to enact important changes in the Criminal Law, to provide new protections for consumers and investors, to up-date food, drug and health legislation, to revise or amend legislation relating to the machinery of justice, and to correct a number of particular injustices, including those resulting from certain provisions of the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act. During the course of the present session it is anticipated that the government will receive reports from inquiries with regard to labour legislation and veterans pensions, and it is the intention of my Ministers to bring their proposals in these matters before you as soon as possible.

My Government believes that the objective of a just society must always include the pursuit of a prosperous economy as well as the fair distribution of its proceeds. Just as we have in the past tended, perhaps, to consider justice in our society largely in material terms, so we must recognize that there has been a tendency in Parliament and to some degree in Government to concentrate on the distributive aspects of our economy. In this course we have sometimes tended to neglect those aspects that can affect the productivity of our country, and hence the total provision of economic well-being for our society, and its competitiveness in the changing conditions of the modern world. The natural resources of Canada and the industries based upon them continue to be of immense importance to our economy but the advantages of our great physical resources by themselves are no longer an adequate base for a growing and prosperous modern economy. We shall increasingly have to compete on even terms with those countries of the world which are most advanced technologically in the provision of the sophisticated products of modern life. Unless Canada can maintain an economy that is efficient, competitive and productive in relation to the most advanced nations on earth, we cannot have the basis for a society from which poverty has been eliminated, we cannot maintain high levels of employment and income and we cannot ensure the standard of life to which Canadians generally aspire. It is against this background, as well as with the consciousness that the interests of all must be fairly balanced, that the government is approaching its policies and programs of an economic character. In this same context, Parliament will be asked during the present session to consider proposals for a systematic and continuous review of prices and costs in our economy.

Just as incomes cannot increase faster than productivity if price increases are to be restrained, so government spending by all levels of government cannot increase faster than productivity if we wish to restrain the increase in levels of taxation. These two realities are among the most important that Canadians and their leaders must bear in mind during the months and years ahead. Measures that you will have to consider relating to the Kennedy Round reflect the outcome of a major international effort to reduce the barriers to international trade and emphasize the opportunities opening up for a great trading nation like Canada. A measure to be brought before you dealing with the amendment of the Bretton Woods arrangements, results from comparable efforts to stabilize and improve the whole international financial system.

Conscious of the limitations it must place on its expenditures, my Government has acted within the framework of previously announced guidelines to select carefully the programs which in the light of regional needs and opportunities it considers most promising for the promotion of a prosperous economy. My Ministers will bring before you legislation relating to the encouragement of manpower programs, regional improvements, domestic investment, export development, and resource administration, including a Yukon Mineral Act and an Oil and Gas Production Act relating to Canada's increasingly important northern resources. In addition, my Government will propose a Freshwater Fish Marketing Act, and intends to investigate immediately a number of methods for promoting greater efficiency in the production and marketing of grains, including the establishment of a National Grains Council. You will be asked to approve amendments to the Farm Improvement Loans Act, the Farm Credit Act, the Farm Machinery Syndicates Act, the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act, and the Fisheries Improvement Loans Act. You will be asked to consider a Canada Development Corporation Act, a Federal Cooperatives Act and an Export Development Corporation Act.

The growth of our population and the changes in the nature of our mobile urban and industrial society lend a new importance to conservation in its traditional sense. We have taken and are taking effective strides toward economic conservation through progressively better use of our resources to achieve a high and long-term productivity. We must also give new attention before it is too late to the preservation of our natural heritage for the enjoyment of Canadians of future generations. You will be asked to consider measures concerning National Parks and Historic Sites and Monuments. These and other facilities for the repose of the mind and restoration of the spirit, for sport, and for physical relaxation are and will be of increasing importance to our social environment. They offer Canadians and to visitors to Canada the possibility of a quality of life richly satisfying and ever more difficult to come by in this and in other industrial countries. Of broader importance is the problem of pollution, which must receive increased attention from federal, provincial and municipal governments. My Ministers are actively engaged in preparing proposals on these subjects and, in due course, these will be brought before you for your examination.

The natural riches with which Canada is blessed must serve to remind us that we have a substantial responsibility and a great opportunity in matters of foreign aid. My Government intends to press forward its plans and programs for international cooperation and development which include the establishment in Canada of an International Development Centre.

In international affairs generally, my Ministers regard the current situation as uncertain and deeply disturbing. Talks are under way in Paris concerning Vietnam but so far negotiations have not advanced as we had hoped they might. The Government has followed with anxiety the attempts to promote a peaceful settlement in Nigeria and has participated actively in international efforts to relieve the sufferings of the civilian population. The situation in Czechoslovakia has also caused the gravest concern to the government, not only for its effects on the prospects of détente and future evolution within Communist countries, but also for its consequences for the freedom and well-being of the Czechoslovak people. For those of them who have to seek refuge in other countries, my Ministers have already taken steps to offer permanent homes in Canada.

The Government has undertaken and is pursuing a thorough review of our external and defence policies. Canada's contribution to NATO, relations with Peking, with Latin America and with Europe are being studied currently. Reviews of our relations with other areas will be undertaken later and, as conclusions are reached, Parliament will be invited to consider them.

The events in other lands to which I have referred are a vivid reminder that our good fortune as Canadians includes rights and freedoms as well as material advantages. They alert us to the need, not only for vigilance in the conservation of our democratic institutions, but also to the importance of constant concern for their improvement. Efficient government, responsive to public requirements and open to public participation, is essential to the meaningful operation of the democratic process. It will be the more vital in the future as technology and science provide new and more immediate means for the dissemination of information and for the involvement, as individuals, of all our people. The Government has already taken steps to review its information services in order to introduce, as soon as possible, improvements by which the flow of information into and out of the government will be more efficient and effective, permitting the people of Canada a continuing, informed, and more active participation in the activities of their government. In addition, as part of the continuing process of modernization and development of governmental machinery, you will be asked during the current session to enact a Government Organization Act. This measure will complete a number of changes in organization and structure announced by the Prime Minister some weeks ago and will complement the Parliamentary reforms so fundamental to the successful operation of our democratic institutions.

The reinforcement and renovation of Parliamentary and administrative machinery and the clearing away of the substantial backlog now outstanding in the legislative program, will free Parliament so that it can come to grips with difficult and pressing problems relating to youth, poverty, regional disparities, urban growth, individual welfare, and the application and encouragement of scientific technology. These subjects are of concern to all governments in Canada and it is clear that a great deal more has to be done than has so far been contemplated. It would be wrong, however, to expect solutions to be found easily or indeed to be found at all except on the basis of close cooperation in good faith between federal, provincial and municipal governments not only in planning but in implementation as well.

To assist in this process it would be useful to have available to all governments an institute where long-term research and thinking can be carried out into governmental matters of all kinds. At the present time there is no such facility available in this country and it is the intention of my Ministers to bring before you in the near future legislation that will fill this most important gap in our governmental apparatus.

Members of the House of Commons:

During the current session you will be asked to appropriate the funds required for the services and payments authorized by Parliament. In addition to this business, the legislative program that the Government proposes is very extensive but many of the items have been seen before or are of an uncontroversial nature. A list of the Bills relating to the matters to which I have referred will be tabled by the Prime Minister later this day and other portions of the program will be brought forward as the session proceeds. It is very important to the proper government of the country in the years ahead that the proposals for the current session be dealt with. In Canada as in other countries of the world democracy today faces a decisive challenge. It must adapt to new circumstances and new demands or fail in its purpose. This challenge is not abstract but a confrontation which you will have to face by virtue of your election to this Parliament.

PRAYERS.

The Honourable the Speaker presented to the Senate the Report of the Parliamentary Librarian, as follows:—

REPORT OF THE PARLIAMENTARY LIBRARIAN

First Session of the twenty-eighth Parliament, 1968

To the Honourable the Speaker of the Senate

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons

The Parliamentary Librarian has the honour to submit his report for the Calendar year 1967. His last report was presented to both Houses on May 8, 1967, and covered the Calendar year 1966.

The Joint Committee on the Library of Parliament met once last year on December 21st, to review library matters, chiefly salary revisions.

The slow progress of Parliament's Centennial Project, publication of the House of Commons and Senate Debates for 1867-1874, was also considered, and the publication of volume I only, containing the debates of the 1st session of the 1st Parliament, November 6, 1867—May 22, 1868, was authorized.

It was also decided to close the Library on Sundays, though the House of Commons Reading Room would remain open, during the Session, from 12.00-4.00 p.m.

Previously, on February 9, 1967, our Sub-Committee to Examine the Research Branch, Automation, and Related Matters, met and considered the informative report of Mr. Philip Laundry, Chief of the Research Branch, on his operations. Members attending, in addition to the Joint Chairmen, the Hon. Sydney J. Smith, Speaker of the Senate, and the Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Q.C., M.P., Speaker of the House of Commons, were Senator Muriel McQueen Fergusson, Mr. R. Gordon Fairweather, M.P., and M. Gérard Pelletier, M.P. In addition to the Parliamentary Librarian and Mr. Laundry, the Associate Parliamentary Librarian and the Assistant Librarian were present.

REFERENCE AND CIRCULATION BRANCH: Miss Simonne Chiasson, Chief.

Overall inquiries totalled 4,274, an increase of 603 over 1966, 1,931 more than in 1965. Inquiries handled by the Clipping Service increased by 291 to 1,029, and 5,892 copies were made, an increase of 1,101.

For example, in January, 1967, alone, 382 answers were provided, 176 to 68 Liberal Members or Liberal appointed Senators, and 206 to 74 opposition Members or Conservative appointed Senators. In addition, 53 answers were given to government departments, 11 to Embassies, 55 to letters, 38 to Senate and House of Commons staff, 7 to Royal Commissions, and 23 to members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

Circulation totalled 17,654, down 833 from 1966, but up 2,080 over 1965. Other libraries borrowed 346 items, we borrowed 199. Our notable collection of newspapers was used by 197 non-parliamentary persons, only 61 fewer than in 1966, although we turned our 7200 volumes of bound newspapers over to the National Library.

Mr. Thomas E. (Tom) Monette, certainly one of the best liked, and most courteously efficient staff members ever to serve in this Library, retired as Senior Library Consultant this year, and all who knew him still regret his going. He was a truly outstanding staff member, and the attendance of both the Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Commons at his retirement party in October testifies to the regard in which he was held by those he served.

RESEARCH BRANCH: Mr. Philip Laundry, Chief.

Office space, the most pressing problem for this branch, was finally provided by the Department of Public Works in the Rideau Club Annex in September, 1967, but is temporary only, allows inadequate room for expansion, and is by no means first rate in either location or facilities. Nevertheless, it is an immense and much appreciated improvement over the cramped quarters previously occupied within the Library itself.

As the director's office remains in the Library, and is always occupied by one of his staff when he is absent, close touch is retained between the branch and the "consumer", but ideally, all Research Officers should be on Parliament Hill.

One Research Officer left, but two experienced new Officers, Mr. Anthony J. Wright, from the Parliamentary Press Gallery, and Miss Margaret A. Carroll, from the Department of National Defence, were added.

200 papers were completed in 1967, 133 for government Members or Liberal appointed Senators, 42 for opposition Members or Conservative appointed Senators, and the remaining 25 for parliamentary committees, delegations, and associations. Contrary to general expectation, opposition use of this service declined last year and remains a matter of some concern.

It is interesting to note, however, that "inquiries have become more sophisticated", and "studies in relative depth" are replacing "the superficial". If more staff were available, we could do more to encourage use.

In addition to his regular duties, Mr. Laundry served as Secretary to the House of Commons Special Committee on Procedure, and from March 27 to April 9, 1967, served as Secretary to the Canadian Delegation at the Spring Conference of the Inter-Parliamentary Union in Majorca.

CATALOGUING AND ORDER BRANCH: Miss Florence Moore, Chief.

The 18,377 volumes catalogued and classified in 1967 represents an increase of 3,750 over 1966, 6,534 more than in 1965. Variations like this are usually explained by shorter periods of recess, though staff changes and new methods frequently lead to improvement.

HOUSE OF COMMONS READING ROOM: M. Jean Houle, Chief.

The three bilingual staff members here maintain 829 newspapers (160 daily, 669 weekly), 235 periodicals, and 4,000 novels. As this Reading Room is freely open to Senators, it is perhaps time that the role of the Senate Reading Room be again re-examined by the proper authorities.

BINDERY: Mr. Robert L. Brydon, Chief.

The loss of our Chief Binder, Mr. Conrad Sabourin, to the C.B.C. where he is now Record Library Supervisor of the music record collection of CBO, CBOFM, and CBOF, was an unexpected blow, and we all regretted his departure though wishing him every success. Fortunately, we were able to attract a first-rate Scottish craftsman, Mr. Robert L. Brydon, from the Public Archives, and he arrived early in February. Unfortunately, after a lengthy illness, the indefatigable Madame Marie S. Gagné retired later in the year, and was not replaced until October. Despite these difficulties, however, 11,236 jobs were undertaken, including 2,081 bindings, and 433 repairs.

MISCELLANEOUS

Gifts

During 1967, over 400 volumes of surplus parliamentary documents were provided to the university libraries of Alberta, Brock, McGill, Montréal, Mount St. Bernard, Saskatchewan, Simon Fraser, Southampton (England), Trent, and Victoria, and to the library of the Supreme Court of Canada, the Polish National Library, and the Library of the Bundestag in Bonn, West Germany. The usual exchanges were also maintained.

Of course, the largest transfer of material was, as usual, to the National Library of Canada. Approximately 7200 bound volumes of newspapers (largely Canadian), and lengthy files of documents, including those received on exchange from the Australian States, the States of the Union of South Africa, and from India, Pakistan, Eire, Northern Ireland, Nigeria, Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Belgium, Switzerland, individual West Indian nations, and France (prior to 1945) were transferred.

We were especially glad to add to our collection copies in both English and French of Senator Paul Yuzyk's informative new book Ukrainian Canadians: Their Place and Role in Canadian Life, and Senator F. A. McGrand's fascinating political history Backward Glances at Sunbury and Queens. As usual we are also indebted to a number of Embassies for gifts, and should like to repeat our thanks to them, and to all others who kindly enriched our collection. Special thanks go to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacMillan of Ottawa whose donations improved the National Library and the Ottawa Public Library as well. We are also happy to record our appreciation to the Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, P.C., Q.C., M.P., who sent us several cartons of interesting material.

We are also happy to acknowledge the prompt and generous response of many Canadian publishers, both French and English, to a request for books to fill the bookshelves of the new Government guest house at 7 Rideau Gate during Centennial Year. Provision of these books increased the enjoyment of its guests, and improved the appearance of their surroundings.

Visitors

In addition to the over one million tourists brought in by the House of Commons Protective staff, and amongst many other visitors, the following may be of special interest: Mr. T. V. Goonetilleke, Ceylon's Parliamentary Librarian, worked with us for the first six months of 1967, thereby completing nearly a year's tour of duty under the Colombo Plan; Mr. D. J. T. Englefield, Deputy Assistant Librarian of the British House of Commons Library, visited August 8-11 to study our operations and methods; and Miss Jean Kerfoot, Ontario Legislative Librarian, also visited with one of her staff.

Two groups of foreign librarians visited in 1967. Over 150 came on August 21st from the International Federation of Library Associations' Conference in Toronto, and, after a special tour, enjoyed a lunch in the West Block at which they were greeted by the Hon. Sydney J. Smith, Speaker of the Senate. The next month, fifteen Swedish librarians lunched in the New Zealand Room.

We were honoured by a visit from the Rt. Hon. Horace King, P.C., Ph.D., M.P., Speaker of the British House of Commons, in October. We also had visits from the Secretary to the Malaysian Senate, a member of the British Parliament, and a member of Parliament for Kenya.

We enjoyed a lengthy visit from Mr. H. L. White, C.B.E., M.A., then Parliamentary and National Librarian for Australia, who asked for an interview with our critics. An informative discussion-luncheon was promptly arranged and attended by Mr. A. Hales, M.P., Mr. H. Gray, M.P., Mr. G. Baldwin, M.P., and the Parliamentary Librarian, the Associate Parliamentary Librarian, and the Chief of the Research Branch of the Library. Unfortunately, others asked were unable to attend on short notice.

And finally, I think we should note the visit of Mr. John Hansard, a direct descendant of Luke Hansard, the famous printer to the British House of Commons. He was referred to us by Mr. Speaker Lamoureux, and we were able to substantially fill his request on behalf of the University of Southampton for Canadian Parliamentary Papers.

PARLIAMENTARY LIBRARIANS

The Assistant Librarian, Miss A. Pamela Hardisty, in addition to her varied regular duties, remained on the Board of the Institute of Professional Librarians of Ontario until July, continued as Chairman of the Government Reference Libraries Committee of the Canadian Library Association, and attended the Canadian Library Association Conference held in Ottawa in June, as well as a Special Libraries Association Seminar on Administration, Finance, and Personnel also held in Ottawa.

The Associate Parliamentary Librarian, M. Guy Sylvestre, in addition to his important routine library duties, was appointed Secretary of the Canadian Section of the "Association interparlementaire Canada-France", and a member of two Privy Council Office Committees, one on Bilingualism, and one on the French Language.

M. Sylvestre, as Secretary to the Canadian Delegation, attended the founding meeting of the "Association internationale des Parlementaires de langue française" in Luxemburg, May 17-18, 1967. He represented the Library at the annual Conference of the "Association canadienne des Bibliothécaires de langue française" in Montreal August 24-27.

In addition, M. Sylvestre conceived and organized the World Poetry Conference as a special event of Expo '67, and attended the meetings in Montreal September 6-10, 1967.

Finally, M. Sylvestre was the compiler and editor of the French section of the centennial volume "A Century of Canadian Literature/Un siècle de Littérature canadienne".

In view of these, and his past achievements, it will be understandable that I was pleased to recommend M. Sylvestre for a Centennial Medal which was duly awarded. That M. Sylvestre was also awarded a pin for twenty-five years service is almost an anticlimax.

And though it is not technically a happening in 1967, I should be remiss if I neglected to inform all Parliamentarians that on June 1, 1968, M. Sylvestre was appointed National Librarian of Canada. We all wish him every success in his new position, but regret very much his loss to Parliament.

On March 2nd both the Associate Parliamentary Librarian and the Parliamentary Librarian appeared before the Special Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons on The National and Royal Anthems, presented papers, and answered questions. M. Sylvestre's paper dealt with the National Anthem, and mine, prepared by our Research Branch, with the Royal Anthem. We enjoyed appearing before this Committee and should like to express our thanks to the Joint Chairmen, the Honourable Maurice Bourget and Mr. S. Perry Ryan, M.P., and all members, for their courteous and interested reception.

The Parliamentary Librarian, as a member ex-officio, and the Associate Parliamentary Librarian, as an invited guest, also attended meetings of the National Library Advisory Council on February 24th, June 21st, and December 5th.

The Parliamentary Librarian submitted a brief to the Royal Commission on Security in defence of the "right to know" on March 22nd, after prior discussion with Mr. Speaker Smith, Mr. Speaker Lamoureux, and the Honourable L. T. Pennell, P.C., M.P., then Solicitor General.

The Parliamentary Librarian participated in the Ontario Library Association Conference in Fort William May 14-18, and the Conference of the Canadian Library Association in Ottawa in June. More important, he attended the International Federation of Library Associations' Conference in Toronto August 15-19 as the voting delegate of the Canadian Library Association, and spoke to the Special Libraries Section on Special Libraries in Canada.

The Parliamentary Librarian also participated in the meetings arranged by the Ontario government at Lake Opinicon in September to discuss "Swedish-Canadian Problems of Mutual Interest", and spoke on administration to the Montreal Chapter of the Special Libraries Association meeting in Ottawa in April.

In November, when in New York on private matters, he visited the United Nations Library. As we are a UN depository library, and frequently assist them in obtaining official Canadian publications, this was a mutually useful visit. On the same trip the Parliamentary Librarian visited the Library of the Council On Foreign Relations, and as a result our Library now has improved coverage of events in Russia.

Almost without exception our staff is hard-working, well-qualified, and sincerely anxious to serve. We all hope we shall have the opportunity, but it is a choice each one must make. Our services cannot be forced on anyone. To those who have given us the opportunity to serve, we say thanks; to those yet to do so, we say, please come, or write, or telephone. We exist only to serve you.

Statement by Speaker.

Re: The Budget Speech—Accommodation for Senators in the Senate Gallery of the House of Commons.

As previously announced, the Minister of Finance will deliver his Budget Speech in the other place Tuesday next, 22nd October, 1968, at eight o'clock.

May I be permitted to remind the Honourable Senators that none but Senators will be admitted to the Senate Gallery of the House of Commons on that occasion. This step is being taken for the purpose of providing accommodation in the Gallery for as many Senators as possible. In this manner, Senators will not be excluded from the Gallery on account of many of the places being occupied by relatives and friends of Senators.

May I add that such instructions were first issued in 1931 by the then Speaker of the Senate, the Hon. P. E. Blondin, and that this practice has been followed ever since by succeeding Speakers.

JEAN-PAUL DESCHATELETS,
Speaker of the Senate.

Your Committee recommends that authority be granted for the printing of 800 copies in English and 300 copies in French of its proceedings on the said Bill.

APPENDIX

THURSDAY, November 28th, 1968.

The Special Committee of the Senate on the Rules of the Senate makes its Fourth Report as follows:

1. Under authority of the Resolution passed by the Senate at its sitting Thursday, September 19th, 1968, reading as follows:

"The Honourable Senator Martin, P.C., moved, seconded by the Honourable Senator McDonald:

That a Special Committee of the Senate be appointed to examine the Rules of the Senate, and to recommend to the Senate any changes therein considered by the Committee to be either necessary or desirable; and

That the Committee have power to call for persons, papers and records, to examine witnesses, to report from time to time, to print such papers and evidence from day to day as may be ordered by the Committee and to sit during sittings and adjournments of the Senate."

a Special Committee composed of the following:

The Honourable Senators

Aird	Haig	McDonald
Choquette	Lang (Vice Chairman)	Molson (Chairman)
Connolly (Ottawa West)	Langlois	Phillips (Rigaud)
Desruisseaux	Leonard	Stanbury
Everett	Macdonald (Cape Breton)	Thorvaldson
Flynn	Martin	White

has met and now submits its Report.

2. A proper understanding of the Rules of the Senate required a study of the constitutional background of these Rules. Your Committee therefore examined the British North America Act and the statutes listed in Appendix "A" to this report. In addition the Rules of the House of Lords, of the Senate of the United States of America, and previous debates of the Senate of Canada on this subject, were considered.

3. Throughout its study, your Committee was aware of the need to accelerate the legislative process, and the widespread public criticism of the whole parliamentary process as it exists in Canada today. Your Committee has therefore satisfied itself that the Rules recommended to the Senate will permit the Senate to assume greater legislative responsibility without sacrificing its customary scrutiny of the legislation itself. In addition, in recommending the amendments set forth as a Schedule to this report, your Committee also recommends that the Committee on Standing Rules and Orders be instructed to keep under constant study the Rules and to recommend periodic revisions thereto. Your Committee further recommends that the proposed Rules, as adopted by the Senate, be printed in the English and French languages in conformity with the arrangement, style, numbering, and lettering used in the Statutes of Canada, with a detailed index, an appendix showing a bibliography of related statutes, and an appendix of relevant forms of proceedings, the responsibility therefor to be entrusted to the Clerk of the Senate, the Law Clerk, and Legal Counsel of your Committee.

4. In the course of study, however, it became apparent that amendments to the Rules would not be sufficient to enable the Senate to carry out effectively its role as one of the three vital parts of the Parliament of Canada in accordance with the terms of Section 17 of the B.N.A. Act:

"There shall be one Parliament for Canada, consisting of the Queen, an Upper House styled the Senate, and the House of Commons."

Fully aware that the underlying reason for the establishment of your Committee was the desire of the members that the Senate continue to make its maximum contribution to the welfare of the Canadian people, your Committee soon realized that revision of the Rules only could not accomplish this purpose. There emerged the clear necessity for constitutional and statutory changes beyond the terms of reference of the Committee in order to reach the objective of a modern and streamlined Parliament.

5. Such basic reform is not a new idea. Over the years, the Senate itself has struggled with this problem. One can recall the motion placed before this Chamber in 1951 by the Honourable Wishart McL. Robertson, then Government Leader in the Senate,

"that a Special Committee of the Senate be appointed to inquire into, and report upon, whatever action in its opinion may be necessary or expedient to enable the Senate to make its maximum contribution to the welfare of the Canadian people."

But today the problem is more urgent because of the rapid social change during the last two decades. Parliamentary reform is now a public issue which must be resolved with dispatch in accordance with the requirements of modern society.

6. The British North America Act, 1867, contemplated a primary role for the Senate which has changed substantially over the years. Originally it was envisaged that all legislation would originate in the House of Commons and that the function of the Senate would be to re-examine the Bills passed by the House and referred to the Senate. It was to be a Chamber for review and "sober second thought".

7. With the passage of time this function has changed. In the first place many private bills have been introduced in the Senate, particularly of course divorce bills. It appears generally agreed that all private bills ought to be introduced in the Senate, whereas for special reasons a few private bills are still being introduced in the House of Commons. That conclusion was implicit in the decision taken in 1932 to increase the parliamentary fee to $500 if a private bill were introduced in the Commons while it was left at the less realistic figure of $200 if introduced in the Senate. A provision to the effect that all private bills shall originate in the Senate would be beyond the competence of the Senate acting unilaterally. It is recommended therefore that discussions be initiated with the House of Commons to the end that such a provision be made either by a change in the rules of the House of Commons or by statute. If that change is made, presumably the parliamentary fee in the Senate should be raised too. In addition, it has become the practice to introduce a limited number of government bills—those with no money context—in the Senate. This practice, which is a very welcome one, has enabled the Senate to carry part of the legislative load in recent years, as the following data reveals:

Year	Government Bills initiated in the Senate	Government Bills initiated in the Commons	Percentage of Total initiated in the Senate
1957-58	3	28	10%
1958	4	41	9
1959	12	44	21
1960	13	37	26
1960-61	6	58	9
1962	1	26	4
1962-63	1	18	5
1963	8	48	14
1964-65	19	44	30
1965	5	13	28
1966-67	22	81	21

8. When it is borne in mind that all money bills are included in the figures of Bills initiated in the Commons, it becomes apparent that the Senate can carry a not inconsequential share of the legislation when the Government of the day directs Bills to it for introduction. It might be added that during the last ten years 233 Private Bills, other than Divorce Bills, have been initiated in the Senate, while only 4, initiated in the House of Commons, have been received by the Senate.

9. Another innovation, the function of investigation, has been most effectively carried out by special committees of the Senate, and often at a fraction of the cost that would have been incurred by a Royal Commission. More and more the work of Parliament has to be done in Committees. This is true also in other countries with democratic forms of government, including the United Kingdom and the United States. Over and above its deliberative functions the Senate, in carrying out its primary responsibility as a legislative body, must do an increasing amount of investigatory and research work. Examples of this are to be found in recent years in the work of the Special Committees such as those on (1) Inflation, (2) Manpower and Employment, (3) Land Use in Canada, (4) Aging, (5) The Joint Committee on Consumer Credit and (6) The Joint Committee on Divorce, and the current intensive study being made by the Special Committee on Science Policy. Such studies and investigations in depth have been and will continue to be the bases for sound constructive legislation. The Economic Council of Canada recognized this in its Fifth Annual Review which says at page 136:

"The Senate of Canada might consider the advisability of creating a committee to enquire into the problem of poverty in Canada. An earlier Senate enquiry into the problems of land use in Canada helped to bring about the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act (ARDA) in 1961. The enquiry we propose would deal with all aspects of poverty, urban and rural. Many excellent witnesses, both Canadian and foreign, would be available to appear before the committee, whose work could also be aided by a small but competent research staff. The work of such a committee could do much to define and elucidate the problem of poverty in Canada, and to build public support for a more effective structure of remedial measures."

There is, indeed, a need for permanent research assistants on the staff of the Senate to ensure that this important Senate responsibility need not depend to the extent it has in the past upon temporary and comparatively costly expert staff.

10. As a result, it seems to have become accepted that the role of the Senate is no longer confined, in these days of rapid change and instant communication, to that of "sober second thoughts" on legislation emanating from the House of Commons. Without the Senate abandoning this responsibility it now seems essential that the work of Parliament itself should be more balanced by the introduction in the Senate of more legislation than heretofore, and that the work of inquiry carried on through the means of special committees should be expanded. For the complexity of modern life requires a greater co-operation between the two Houses in order to ensure that legislation keeps pace with progress in human affairs: the great advances in science and human knowledge; the increasingly repeated and more efficient means of communication and transport; the wealth of new instruments and synthetic materials; the rationalized methods of production; in general, the world-wide reorientation which heralds a new era for man, provided that man organizes and directs these developments under the rule of law.

11. Understandably, there is a feeling of disquiet and unrest in the face of all these triumphs of science and technology. It is an experience of individuals and nations alike. Our age, like all times of transition, is one of unrest. The era we now live in reveals a great deal of public discussion and considerable evidence of the danger of parliamentary democracy deteriorating into an authoritarian executive supported by a strong and experienced bureaucracy, with Parliament itself relegated to the role of a debating society. When the growing demands, increasing complexity and almost instantaneous communication of problems presented to Governments are considered, these fears appear to be not unreasonable.

12. To preserve the vital democratic responsibility of examination and thorough study in depth of legislation presented to Parliament, an impartial and independent Senate, comprising the ablest talent which can be attracted to it, is of paramount importance to our system and, consequently, to the Canadian public. This emphasizes not only the continuing and perhaps increasing need for our Chamber but, also, the importance of its composition as well as its procedures for ensuring a full and fair examination of public issues with as little distortion as possible by the crisis atmosphere of the daily political scene.

13. The experience of 100 years now indicates that there is some reason for the Senate to approach its task with full impartiality and independence. To this end it may be desirable that there should be a constitutional change widening the base on which senators are appointed. It is apparent that when appointments are confined almost exclusively to those who have faithfully served the party in power, there is a modifying influence imposed on their conduct by the natural loyalty to that party. This is not to suggest that either political experience or party affiliation by themselves should be a deterrent to an otherwise suitable appointment, but that if the Senate were more detached from the political party process it would have an immediate and beneficial effect on its conduct and on its image. In the words of John Stuart Mill,

"If one House represents popular feeling, the other should represent personal merit, tested and guaranteed by actual public service, and fortified by practical experience. If one is the People's Chamber, the other should be the Chamber of Statesmen; a council composed of all living public men who have passed through important political offices or employments. Such a chamber would be fitted for much more than to be a merely moderating body. It would not be exclusively a check, but also an impelling force. In its hands the power of holding the people back would be vested in those most competent, and who would generally be most inclined, to lead them forward in any right course. The council to whom the task would be entrusted of rectifying the people's mistakes would not represent a class believed to be opposed to their interest, but would consist of their own natural leaders in the path of progress. The best constitution of a Second Chamber is that which embodies the greatest number of elements exempt from the class interests and prejudices of the majority, but having in themselves nothing offensive to democratic feeling."

14. In similar context it has frequently been suggested that general participation by Senators in House of Commons caucuses has not proven helpful to Senators in the impartial consideration of legislation in the Chamber. It might be suggested that if the practice were adopted of the Leader, Deputy Leader, and the Whip, only, of each party, attending caucus and then accepting the responsibility of passing on to their Members the information on policy and other matters, as necessary, it might preserve the political connection without affecting the impartiality of the Senate. In order to weigh legislation in the light of only what is best for the country, it is obviously difficult for members of the Senate to be subject to the direction of the same person who leads their party in the House of Commons.

15. A reform that is within the competence of the Government of the day, and badly needed to enable the Senate to serve a more valuable and, it is submitted, its proper purpose in Parliament, is a change in the concept of a "money bill". Debates and opinions on this matter go back for some three hundred years or more in parliamentary history, but your Committee is convinced that a different application of the definition is now needed, and they believe that there are good grounds, based on historical opinions, to exclude from the definition of "money bill" a Bill introduced, not for the purpose of imposing taxation or for the purpose of spending public funds, but for another purpose which has only some consequential cost of administration or other very secondary financial aspect.

16. There are also conditions or requirements imposed in the past by statute which, in the modern world, may be anachronisms. Among these worthy of re-examination are the property requirements for appointment to the Senate dating from an age of class distinctions and coloured by the character of landowner of Members of the House of Lords and, in particular, those applying to Senators from Quebec; the time consuming and sometimes disruptive procedure for Royal Assent in the Senate Chamber; the fact that deductions are made from the Sessional Allowance for absences from the Chamber while no credit is given for committee attendance even during adjournments showing the lack of recognition of the importance of Senators' attendance at Committees both during the session and adjournments relative to sittings in the Chamber.

17. In matters of procedure there is also room for improvement in the performance of the Senate. This has been suggested in part by the proposed amendment in the number, composition and functions of standing committees contained in the Third Report of your Committee adopted by the Senate on November 19th. This basic restructuring of the Standing Committees has reduced the number of committees from 19 to 11, now strengthened and empowered to call for persons, papers, and records, whenever required, with areas of direct concern such as foreign affairs, national finance, legal and constitutional affairs, banking, trade and commerce, health, welfare, science and transport and communications. In addition, bills of major public interest should be considered in the Chamber in the Committee of the Whole. Further, from time to time, select committees of the Senate should hold committee meetings in the Senate Chamber itself. In this way the public would have an opportunity to see the Senate performing what is undoubtedly one of its most useful roles—the examination in depth of the legislation submitted to it. This is suggested with the thought of enabling more people to appreciate where and how the Senate makes its vital contribution in Parliament. Public opinion properly informed would soon realize that the debates which are listened to from the Gallery in the normal course of our sittings are those dealing with matters of principle only, and in no way encompass the full consideration and careful treatment given to bills that come before our Chamber.

18. Your Committee also gave some consideration to the present status and functioning of the Standing Joint Committees of the Senate and House of Commons. The former rules concerning such Committees were left unchanged in the proposed new rules, since neither the Committee nor the Senate, acting unilaterally, could properly change them. It is nevertheless considered that the status and functioning of such Joint Committees should be studied jointly by the two Houses with a view to ensuring that any necessary changes are made. In addition, your Committee considers that there is much doubt existing as to the proper functioning of Special Joint Committees: there is no clear guide, for example, as to the procedure to be followed by such Joint Committees, as to which House should bear the expenses incurred, or as to whether such expenses should be apportioned. A study of these matters could be undertaken as part of the joint study, recommended above, of the Standing Joint Committees.

19. Experience dictates that parliamentary reform should be undertaken only if wide public demand for it is in evidence. There is considerable evidence that there would be public support for Senate reform. Your committee recognizes that this situation is partly the result of lack of public knowledge and understanding of the responsibilities and performance of the Senate, but acknowledges that there is a substantial feeling among Senators themselves that change is as essential here as it is in life itself.

20. Having examined and discussed at length the root causes of its inability to render Senate procedures completely modern by changes to the rules; being fully convinced of the supreme importance of the parliamentary process in the conduct of national affairs in our democracy; being persuaded that a system devised 100 years ago and scarcely modified since is no longer adequate to cope with conditions of this age; and being of the opinion that the Senate can and should participate to a greater degree in the ever increasing load placed on Parliament, your Committee in making its report therefore recommends that the Senate instigate an examination of the constitution of the Senate with a view to recommending changes which would enable it to carry out more fully the purpose which was intended in making it one of the three essential parts of Parliament.

21. This could be accomplished by introducing for debate in the Senate a motion setting out the terms of reference of such a study, which if adopted could be carried out by the recently established Standing Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs. Such a debate, ranging over all aspects of the Constitution with regard to the Senate, would be useful in developing recommendations which would meet with public approval and set the course for the Senate's second century.

22. In closing, the Chairman would like to record the interest, co-operation and diligence of the Law Clerk, the Chief Clerk of Committees, the Clerk of the Committee, the members of the Committee and its Legal Counsel, Mr. David Dehler. SCHEDULE

SENATE RULES

PROPOSED

1. In all cases not provided for hereinafter, or by Sessional or other Orders, the Standing Orders, Rules, Usages and Forms of Proceeding of the Parliament of Canada in force up to the adoption of the present Rules, shall be followed so far as they can be applied to the proceedings of the Senate or any committee thereof.

Explanatory Note:

This revision does not preclude reference to the great Parliamentary authorities such as Bourinot, May, or Beaulieu. The Senate is master of its own House, and with the Canadian experience of over 100 years, there is no usefulness in referring to the Lords House of the Imperial Parliament.

2. No change.

- 2A. Any rule, or part thereof, may be suspended without notice by the unanimous consent of the Senate, the rule or part thereof proposed to be suspended being distinctly stated.

Explanatory Note:

Rule 2A is the second paragraph of existing Rule 30 which for clarity of presentation becomes 2A.

3. All existing Rules and Standing Orders of the Senate are repealed.

Explanatory Note:

The words "except as otherwise ordered by the Senate" are deleted because they are deemed superfluous.

EXISTING

33. When two or more senators rise to speak, the Speaker calls upon the senator who, in his opinion, first rose in his place; but a motion may be made that any senator who has risen "be now heard" or "do now speak". M. 446; B. 334.

34. A senator may speak to any question before the Senate, a question of privilege, or upon a point of order, or upon a motion or an inquiry, or in making a mere interrogation, but not otherwise without the consent of a majority of the Senate, which shall be determined without debate.

M. 449: B. 344.

Explanatory Note:

Redrafted for sake of clarity.

37. In all cases, the final reply of the mover of the original question closes the debate. It is the duty of the Speaker to ensure that every senator wishing to speak has the opportunity to do so before the final reply.

37. In all cases, the reply of the mover of the original question closes the debate. It is the duty of the Speaker to see that every senator wishing to speak has the opportunity to do so before the final reply.

Explanatory Note:

The word "final" is added in the first sentence to qualify the word "reply". The expression "final reply" is intended to ensure that replies to oral questions, queries, or interrogations made during the course of debate shall not be construed as "the reply of the mover" which closes the debate. The "reply of the mover" is the "final reply".

38. No change.

38. It shall be competent to a senator, when he seconds a motion or amendment, or moves an order of the day, without speaking to it, to address the Senate on the subject of such motion, amendment or order of the day, at any subsequent period of the debate. M. 449: B. 345.

41. Whenever a matter or question directly concerning the privileges of the Senate or of any committee or member thereof, has arisen, a motion calling upon the Senate to take action thereon may be moved, without notice, and shall, until decided, unless the debate be adjourned, suspend the consideration of other motions as well as Orders of the Day. M. 382, 397: B. 302, sq.

- (2) The previous question refers to a motion "that the original question be now put". Such a motion may be made on a main motion, or on a main motion as amended, but not on a motion for an amendment. When such a motion is put by the Speaker no motion to amend it is order. It is debatable and Senators who have spoken on the main motion or on the main motion as amended may speak again to the previous question but may not move or second it. If the motion for the previous question carries, the Speaker must immediately put the original question without further debate: if it is defeated, the main motion is dropped from the Orders of the Day. The previous question may not be moved in Committee of the Whole or in any select Committee.
44. When a question is under debate, no motion is received, unless to amend it; to commit it; to postpone it to a certain day; for the previous question; for reading the Orders of the Day, or for the adjournment of the Senate. B. 316, sqq. 322, sqq., 324, sq. 326.

Explanatory Note:

The words "commit it" are deleted and the words "refer it to a committee" are substituted therefor for sake of clarity and consistency with amendment to Rule 25(b). The words "for reading the Orders of the Day" are deleted because superfluous. Paragraph 2 is added to clarify the meaning of "previous question" and to detail the procedural implications of such a motion.

Each senator shall vote on the question openly and without debate unless for special reasons he be excused by the Senate; provided that by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate.

- (2) Questions arising in the Senate shall be decided by a majority of voices, and when the voices are equal the decision shall be deemed to be in the negative.

Explanatory Note:

Rules 51, 52, 53 and 54 inclusive, are redrafted in this new rule for sake of clarity and greater detail as to procedure. The words "Contents" and "Non-contents" are deleted and the words "yeas" and "nays" are substituted therefor to accord with modern practice. Paragraph (a) is intended to emphasize that the Speaker is not obliged to vote. Paragraph (b) is substantially the same as existing Rule 53. Explanatory Note:

M. 439: B. 389.

PRAYERS.

The Honourable the Speaker informed the Senate that a communication had been received from the Honourable Mr. Justice Allison A. M. Walsh.

The communication was then read by the Honourable the Speaker as follows:—

Ottawa, 29th January, 1969.

The Honourable Jean-Paul Deschatelets, P.C.,
The Speaker of the Senate,
The Senate,
Ottawa, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

On the 19th of November, 1963, I was designated by the then Speaker of the Senate, pursuant to Section 3 of the Dissolution and Annulment of Marriages Act, to be an Officer of the Senate, to hear evidence on petitions for dissolution or annulment of marriages and to report thereon.

Subsequently, following an amendment to the Exchequer Court Act, assented to on June 18, 1964, section 6A was added reading as follows:

"A judge of the Court designated by the Speaker of the Senate for the purpose of this section after consultation with the President of the Court, if he is granted leave of absence for such purpose by the Governor in Council from his duties as a judge of the Court, has and may exercise and perform all of the powers, duties and functions of the officer of the Senate referred to in section 3 of the Dissolution and Annulment of Marriages Act."

I was duly appointed to the Exchequer Court and granted leave of absence under the provisions of this section and have ever since continued to act as Commissioner of the Senate, the name given by the Rules to the officer designated for this purpose.

This work has now been substantially concluded since no new petitions can be filed to proceed by way of Resolution of the Senate since July 2, 1968, the date of proclamation of the Divorce Act assented to February 1, 1968. The petitions which remain to be heard can be dealt with by Judge Cameron, the other Commissioner and there is insufficient work remaining to justify my continuing to act as Commissioner.

I attended a meeting of the Senate Standing Committee on Divorce on January 22 at which meeting I explained the situation to them and a resolution was passed approving my proposed release.

I therefore hereby request that I be relieved of my duties as an Officer of the Senate.

Yours sincerely,

ALLISON A. M. WALSH.

The Honourable the Speaker then rose and made the following statement:
Honourable Senators:

Pursuant to the authority conferred upon me by Section 3 of the Dissolution and Annulment of Marriages Act, I hereby terminate the designation of the Honourable Mr. Justice Allison Arthur Mariotti Walsh, as an Officer of the Senate to hear evidence on petitions for dissolution or annulment of marriages and to report thereon, and he is, as of this day, relieved, at his request, of his duties as an Officer of the Senate."

APPENDIX

THURSDAY, 6th February, 1969.

By Order of the Senate made on October 1st, 1968, the Standing Committee on Finance was authorized to examine and report upon the expenditures proposed by the Estimates and the Revised Estimates laid before Parliament for the fiscal year ending 31st of March, 1969, and by a further Order made on November 19th, 1968, the said Committee was authorized to examine and report upon the expenditures set out in Supplementary Estimates (A) for the said fiscal year.

Your Committee has examined the said Estimates, the Revised Estimates and the Supplementary Estimates and reports as follows:

1. The effect of the said Revised Estimates upon the original estimates was an increase in expenditures of a net aggregate amount of $386,198,566. This increase was due in largest measure to the escalation in costs of open-end cost-sharing Federal-Provincial arrangements. In addition certain items that in the past have been omitted in the main Estimates and included in Supplementary Estimates have been placed in the Revised Estimates.

2. In the result, the total Revised Estimates provide for expenditures of $10,670,930,598.

3. The Revised Estimates also provided for loans of $684,526,812, an increase over the original Estimates of $200,026,812, due largely to advances made or to be made by Canada to the International Development Association and to the Bank for International Settlements.

4. To past Reports your Committee has attached a table showing a year by year comparison of Federal Government budgetary expenditure, plus Old Age Security Fund payments, both as shown by the Auditor-General's Reports. This table is brought up to March 31st, 1968, as Appendix "A" to this Report. This table shows that for the fiscal year ending on that date, the increase in such spending over the previous year was $1,407,600,000. Such amount and the percentage increase were the largest in over 16 years. The figures for the current fiscal year are not yet available although it is clear that there will be another substantial increase even though the dollar amount and the percentage rate may not be as large as for the year ending March 31st, 1968.

5. From time to time your Committee in its reports has made a comparison between the growth of Federal Government expenditures and the growth of the country's Gross National Production. On a national accounts basis in the calendar year 1965 federal expenditures were 16.2% of the country's Gross National Production. This increased to 16.7% in 1966, and to 17.5% in 1967. The figures are not yet available for 1968, but it is reasonable to estimate that the percentage will be slightly higher than 17.5%. This comparison shows that our federal government expenditures have been rising at a faster rate than the country's production. The provincial and municipal expenditures have been growing at an even faster rate and now take a larger percentage of the Gross National Production than does the federal sector. These factors, when coupled with a federal budgetary deficit have put pressures on costs and prices so that inflation is now one of our serious problems in Canada today. If we are to exercise control over the unacceptable rate of inflation that has been going on, we should at least keep the growth of governmental expenditures within the rate of growth of our economy and bring the federal budget into balance.

6. The fastest growing item in the federal budget is the amount contributed to the provincial governments. An example is the case of provincial post-secondary education programs. In the year 1965-66 the federal contribution for such programs was $40,000,000. In the current fiscal year, the fiscal transfers and cash payments to the provinces for the same purposes are estimated at about $500 million—twelve times what they were three years ago.

7. This brings us to consider the method of Federal-Provincial cost-sharing agreements. Where there is an open-end cost-sharing program, the result is that the more that the province spends, then the more is the share of the federal government, and yet the federal government has too little control over the cost. A province may be able to finance in whole or in substantial part from its own tax resources an expanding program of activity within its own jurisdiction, and in such case an open-end cost-sharing agreement may set up an arithmetical progression of expenditures beyond those originally contemplated. This state of affairs was largely responsible for the discrepancy in the figures between the original Estimates and the Revised Estimates. It would seem to be more reasonable from the Federal Government standpoint that its contribution should be of a fixed character for a clearly defined program, so that it can set a limit on its liability. This it has done in the program of the Health Resources Fund, where its annual contribution has been fixed at $37,500,000.

8. Your Committee continued its consideration of the recommendations of the Glassco Commission with respect to the form and text of the Estimates. The President of the Treasury Board appeared before the Committee and submitted examples of proposed forms of estimates. It is the view of your Committee that these new forms will provide more information than in the past as to the expenditures and their relation to programs of action by the various departments. The number of votes will be substantially reduced. The Committee also continued its consideration of the unimplemented recommendations of the Glassco Report.

9. In the course of our examination of the Estimates and Supplementary Estimates we have noted a number of items that contain the phrase "notwithstanding the provisions of" and then refer to certain statutes, particularly the Financial Administration Act. Each such item should be carefully scrutinized. In some cases, it is found that the effect is simply to exclude one particular item of expenditure from the general provisions of the quoted Act. It has happened however on some occasions that the item is sufficiently general in character to be in effect an amendment to the Act, and this type of amendment should not be in the Appropriation Act but by a separate amending statute.

10. Your Committee again expresses its thanks to the witnesses who have appeared before it, particularly the Honourable the President of the Treasury Board, his Officers and the Auditor-General of Canada.

All which is respectfully submitted.

T. D'ARCY LEONARD,
Chairman.

A Message was brought from the House of Commons by their Clerk with a Bill C-177, intituled: "An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the public service for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1969", to which they desire the concurrence of the Senate.

The Bill was read the first time.

The Honourable Senator Langlois moved, seconded by the Honourable Senator McDonald, that the Bill be read the second time now.

After debate,

The Honourable Senator Grosart moved, seconded by the Honourable Senator O'Leary (Carleton), that further debate on the motion be adjourned until later this day.

The question being put on the motion, it was—
Resolved in the affirmative.

The Honourable Senator Phillips (Rigaud) for the Honourable Senator Leonard, from the Standing Senate Committee on National Finance, presented to the Senate the Report of the said Committee with respect to the expenditures set out in Supplementary Estimates (B) and Revised Supplementary Estimates (B) laid before Parliament for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1969, as follows:—

THURSDAY, March 6, 1969.

By Orders of the Senate respectively made on Tuesday, February 25th, 1969, and Wednesday, March 5th, 1969, the Standing Senate Committee on National Finance was directed to examine and report upon the expenditures set out in the Supplementary Estimates (B) and Revised Supplementary Estimate (B), laid before Parliament for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1969.

Your Committee has examined the said Supplementary Estimates (B) and Revised Supplementary Estimate (B), and heard evidence from the Secretary of the Treasury Board and members of his staff thereon and reports as follows:

1. These are the fiscal Estimates for the fiscal year 1968-69 and bring the total of all Estimates for the year to the sum of $10,822,797,126. and the total of all Loans, Investments, and Advances to $754,918,126.

2. Your Committee has noted with approval that for the current year the Supplementary Estimates, in number or in total amount, have been less than for many years. This is a step in the right direction which we hope will be maintained in the years to come.

3. The said Supplementary Estimates (B) contained over forty (40) items of one dollar ($1) each, and your Committee asked for explanations of these items individually. The explanations have been received from which it appears that these items fall into three categories;

- (a) Items authorizing transfers within Votes previously approved by Parliament.
- (b) Items authorizing transfers from Votes previously approved by Parliament.
- (c) Items which are legislative in nature.

While the Committee has not approved of the general practice involved in these one dollar ($1) items, and particularly of those involving statutory amendments, it accepted the explanations with respect to such individual items contained in the said Supplementary Estimates (B) and Revised Supplementary Estimate (B). These explanations will be appended to the printed proceedings of the Committee.

All which is respectfully submitted.

T. D'ARCY LEONARD,
Chairman.

Ordered,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours that this House disagrees with the amendment made by the Senate to Bill C-155, An Act to provide compensation to farmers whose agricultural products are contaminated by pesticide residue, and to provide for appeals from compensation awards, for the following reasons:

The amendment changes the principle of the Bill so that compensation is payable even if the pesticide residue resulted through the fault of a pesticide manufacturer or another person. It makes it a responsibility of the Minister to pay and carry court action against a third party. It would also remove the precise requirement that the Minister may require a farmer to take action to reduce losses before paying compensation, such as washing, trimming, changes in storage etc. If this requirement is removed, it would substantially increase the costs involved in applying the provisions of the legislation. The amendment would also increase the possibility of marginal or frivolous claims.

Attest.

ALISTAIR FRASER,
The Clerk of the House of Commons.

The Honourable Senator Hayden moved, seconded by the Honourable Senator Bourget, P.C., that the Message be referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce.

The question being put on the motion, it was—
Resolved in the affirmative.

A Message was brought from the House of Commons by their Clerk in the following words:—

WEDNESDAY, April 2, 1969.

Ordered,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours that this House disagrees with the amendment made by the Senate to Bill C-157, An Act to regulate products used for the control of pests and the organic functions of plants and animals, for the following reasons:

It is difficult to foresee all the ramifications of an appeal procedure provided by cross reference to another proposed statute that was substantially amended by the House after the amendment to this bill was made by the Senate;

The amendment provides for a review procedure that was considered by the House of Commons and rejected; and

Any manufacturer, under the proposed statute without this amendment, would have not only an opportunity, but an obligation to present in detail all required technical information, and, in addition, a review procedure already is provided for all cases where goods are detained.

Attest.

ALISTAIR FRASER,

The Clerk of the House of Commons.

The Honourable Senator Hayden moved, seconded by the Honourable Senator Bourget, P.C., that the Message be referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce.

(a) six months after the coming into force of this Act, or

(b) one hundred and twenty days after the end of the fiscal year of the company in which it became an investment company, whichever is later.

(3) Where this Act becomes applicable to an investment company

(a) on a day later than the day on which this Act comes into force, and

(b) as a result of the revocation of an exemption granted to it under subsection (2) of section 3, it shall make application to the Minister for a certificate of registry within sixty days after this Act becomes applicable to it.

12. (1) An investment company to which subsection (1) of section 11 applies shall not borrow money on the security of its bonds, debentures, notes or other evidences of indebtedness before the issue of a certificate of registry to it.

(2) Where

(a) in the case of an investment company to which subsection (1) of section 11 does not apply, the company fails to make application to the Minister for a certificate of registry within the time provided in subsection (2) or (3) of that section that is applicable to it,

(b) notice of a special report made by the Superintendent under subsection (1) of section 13 is given to the company to which the report relates in accordance with subsection (2) of that section, or

(c) the certificate of registry

(i) of a company is withdrawn pursuant to section 15, or

(ii) of an investment company has lapsed and has not been renewed by the Minister, the company shall not thereafter borrow money on the security of its bonds, debentures, notes or other evidences of indebtedness, unless a certificate of registry is issued to it by the Minister or, except where the certificate of registry of a company is withdrawn pursuant to section 15, the company ceases to be an investment company.

(3) The extension or renewal of any indebtedness that was incurred by a company to which subsection (2) applies prior to the expiration of the time provided in subsection (2) or (3) of section 11 that is applicable to it or prior to the giving of notice of the special report of the Superintendent under subsection (2) of section 13 or the withdrawal or expiry of its certificate, as the case may be, shall, if the extension or renewal does not increase the indebtedness of the company that was outstanding immediately before such time, be deemed not to be a violation of subsection (2).

(4) Where any money has been borrowed by an investment company in violation of subsection (1) or paragraphs (b) or (c) of subsection (2), the persons who were directors of the company at the time money was so borrowed are jointly and severally liable to the lenders from whom such money was borrowed and their successors in title,

(a) in the case of a violation of subsection (1), for the amount so borrowed; and

(b) in the case of a violation of paragraphs (b) or (c) for the amount by which the indebtedness of the company was increased by borrowing.

13. (1) Where, in the opinion of the Superintendent, the financial condition and affairs of an investment company that applies to the Minister for a certificate of registry are such that the ability of the company to repay all moneys borrowed by it on the security of its bonds, debentures, notes and other evidences of indebtedness that are then outstanding and to pay all interest thereon is inadequately secured, he shall make a special report to the Minister recommending against the issuing of a certificate to the company and setting forth his reasons therefor.

(2) The Superintendent shall give notice to a company to which a special report under subsection (1) relates of the making of the report and a copy of the report shall be sent to the company with the notice.

(a) refuse to issue a certificate of registry to the company; or

(b) postpone the decision whether or not to issue a certificate of registry to the company and, by order, specify a period of time within which the company may endeavour to improve its financial condition and affairs to a state that is satisfactory to the Minister.

(4) The period of time allowed by an order made under paragraph (b) of subsection (3) may be extended by the Minister or the order may at any time be revoked by him upon notice of such extension or revocation being given to the company to which the order relates.

(5) Where a company in respect of which an order has been made under paragraph (b) of subsection (3) satisfies the Minister, before the expiration of the time allowed under the order or any extension thereof or before the revocation of the order, that it has so improved its financial condition and affairs that its ability to repay all moneys borrowed by it on the security of its bonds, debentures, notes and other evidences of indebtedness that are then outstanding and to pay all interest thereon is adequately secured, the Minister may issue a certificate of registry to the company in accordance with section 10.

14. Where it comes to the attention of the Superintendent, by any means whatever, that any assets that appear on the books or records of an investment company may not be satisfactorily accounted for and upon investigation the Superintendent believes that any of those assets are not satisfactorily accounted for and that all the circumstances so warrant, he may immediately take control of the assets of the company and may maintain such control on his own initiative for a period of seven days and, with the concurrence of the Minister, for any longer period that the Minister considers necessary in the circumstances.

15. (1) The Superintendent shall whenever

(a) in his opinion the financial condition and affairs of an investment company are such that the ability of the company to repay all moneys borrowed by it on the security of its bonds, debentures, notes and other evidences of indebtedness that are then outstanding and to pay all interest thereon is inadequately secured; or

(b) he has taken control of the assets of an investment company pursuant to section 14

(2) At any time that the Minister believes that a company, in respect of which the Superintendent has control of assets pursuant to section 14 or 15, meets all the requirements of this Act and it is otherwise proper for the company to resume control of its assets, the Minister may direct the Superintendent to relinquish control of the assets of the company.

(3) No action lies against Her Majesty, the Superintendent or a representative of the Superintendent for anything done or omitted to be done in good faith by the Superintendent or his representative while the Superintendent has control of assets of a company pursuant to sections 14 or 15.

WEDNESDAY, June 25th, 1969.

The Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce to which was referred the Bill C-191, intituled: "An Act to amend the Income Tax Act", has in obedience to the order of reference of June 17th, 1969, examined the said Bill and now reports as follows:

Your Committee was impressed with the views expressed by The Canadian Life Insurance Association on behalf of that industry, more particularly with respect to the subject matter of Contingency Reserve and Surplus. As relief with respect to the latter could be granted to the industry by Order-in-Council under the proposed law, your Committee drew the attention of the Minister of Finance to such representations. The Minister considered the matter but, before the Committee, he stated his unwillingness to grant the relief requested which was that the amount for Contingency Reserve be allowed to be deducted before the incidence of taxation applied to business incomes.

In reply to the Minister's statement the industry stressed most emphatically that such Reserve and Surplus are absolutely essential for the protection of their policyholders. The industry emphasized that its request was in accordance with its settled practice of maintaining adequate Contingency Reserves and such practice, in no small degree contributed to the financial strength of the industry and enabled it to withstand adverse economic cycles.

In the hope that the Minister will give further and favourable consideration to this request of the Life Insurance industry your Committee is disinclined to recommend any amendment at this time.

Parliamentary procedure on Budget matters gave no opportunity to the Life Insurance Companies representing eleven million policyholders to submit their views to an appropriate committee until the Bill reached the Senate even though the present legislation involves a radical departure from our taxation structure.

This experience prompts the Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce to suggest that revised procedures be considered in the future, at least in instances where major changes are contemplated, so that interested parties and the public may have such opportunity.

Respectfully submitted,

SALTER A. HAYDEN,
Chairman.

APPENDIX

THE ESTIMATES

REPORT OF STANDING SENATE COMMITTEE ON NATIONAL FINANCE
PRESENTED BY HON. T. D'ARCY LEONARD

OTTAWA, June 24, 1969.

The Standing Senate Committee on National Finance to which was referred the Estimates laid before Parliament for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1970, has in obedience to the order of reference of February 12th, 1969, examined the said Estimates and now reports, as follows:

1. The Standing Senate Committee on National Finance was authorized in the Minutes of the Proceedings of the Senate, February 12th, 1969, "to examine and report upon the expenditures proposed by the Estimates laid before Parliament for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1970, in advance of Bills based upon the said Estimates reaching the Senate."

2. In obedience to the foregoing, your Senate Committee held seven proceedings on the Estimates, and heard evidence from Professor E. P. Neufeld of the University of Toronto, Professor C. L. Forget of the University of Montreal, Dr. A. J. R. Smith, Chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, Dr. S. Cloutier, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Board, Mr. R. B. Bryce, Deputy Minister of Finance, Dr. G. F. Davidson, President, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and others, all of whom made extremely able and knowledgeable contribution to the Committee. The Committee has examined the said Estimates and submits the following report thereon.

3. The Senate Committee on National Finance has followed the same procedure as in previous years of considering the Estimates in general, rather than embarking upon a detailed study of departments. Such a detailed study would involve a duplication of effort because various Committees of the House of Commons carry out such studies. However, the general study of the Estimates by your Committee is supplemented by an examination of particular votes in those departments where Committee members so desire, and during the current fiscal year such an investigation was made with respect to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The members of this Committee have become concerned with the escalation in recent years in Government loans and other forms of capital assistance to certain Crown Corporations. As the C.B.C. has been, and is expected to continue to be one of the main recipients of such assistance, the Committee was particularly interested in having it represented at one of the meetings. Dr. G. F. Davidson appeared before the Committee to discuss the requirements of the Corporation as approved by the Treasury Board and presented to the House by the Government for the year 1969-70. The requirement was $166 million as compared to $151 million in 1968-69, and this was supplemented by a loan requirement of $30 million as compared to $25 million in 1968-69. The Senate Committee on National Finance views with great concern the rate of growth of operating and capital cost requirements of this Crown Corporation, and the projected escalation in their capital loan requirements for consolidation of facilities in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Halifax. The Committee's view expressed in a later section of this report, pertaining to the great need to establish priorities in government spending policy, and criteria to assure maximum economic and social benefits in government programmes, particularly apply to the operations of the C.B.C.

4. The Senate Committee on National Finance in its evaluation of the impact of the said Estimates on the economy, gave special consideration to the following areas:

(a) The impact of the Estimates on the short-term cyclical, economic environment, and the consequences for monetary and fiscal policy in attaining the economic goals of full employment and price stability, given regional economic disparity and the presence of cost-push inflation. Professor Neufeld, Dr. Smith, and Mr. Bryce presented evidence as to the level of inflation we are now experiencing, (Sp?) the regional distribution of unemployment, and the economic forecast for the fiscal year 1969-70. Within this framework, the consequence for prices and costs of the contribution by the public sector to aggregate demand was discussed.

(b) The long-term trend of the expenditures of the public sector and of the closely related Crown Corporations in respect to their level and rate of growth, and the efficiency of the present division of GNP between the public and private sectors. Professor Neufeld, Dr. Smith, and Mr. Bryce provided the statistical evidence to be found in Charts 1-3 and Tables 4-14, and discussed the causal relationships underlying the growth of the public sector in the 1960's. In addition, the questions of the need to establish criteria to evaluate the efficiency of government expenditure programmes as to realization of economic and social goals, and of the advisability of ceilings on the national debt, were discussed.

(c) A comparison of the experience of Canada in the 1960's as to the rate of growth of public sector expenditures as a percentage of GNP, with that of her major trading partners, and as to their impact on taxes as a percentage of GNP. Witnesses providing such statistics were Professors Neufeld and Forget, and Mr. Bryce.

(d) A comparison of the personal income tax structure and resultant tax burden on individuals living in Canada, and those living in the United States, with emphasis directed towards its implications for the 'brain drain'. Evidence was heard from Professor Forget.

The remainder of the report considers these areas in order and the Committee offers its views and recommendations within each section.

5. The Estimates of the Federal Government for the 1969-70 fiscal year total $11,858 million, which is 9.5 per cent higher than those of the 1968-69 fiscal year—a year in which expenditures increased by about 9 per cent. The annual average increase for the eight fiscal years from 1961-62 to 1968-69 was about 10.4 per cent: so the projected increase for 1969-70 is not only higher than for 1968-69, but it is not much lower than the average annual increase since economic expansion began in the spring of 1961. At the same time the Government has repeated its intentions of achieving a balanced budget in 1969-70 in contrast to an estimated deficit of around $700 million in 1968-69, and deficits of various sizes in each of the years of the current phase of economic expansion.

6. If we look at the statistics on a National Accounts basis, which is more appropriate for economic purposes, the same picture emerges for the fiscal year 1969-70—a forecast surplus of about $250 million compared with a deficit of around $400 million in 1968-69, or a “turn-around” of about $650 million. We may therefore conclude that the budgetary accounts for 1969-70 seem to contain a deflationary element, but that this influence will emerge not from a slow-down in expenditures but from increased tax revenues. Furthermore, the estimated increase in federal revenues results, not from direct fiscal restraint action by the Government, but from the built-in progressiveness of the income tax structure. Evidence before the Committee was to the effect that for every 1% increase in Gross National Production, there would be an increase of 1.1% to 1.2% in federal revenues.

7. It is the view of the Senate Committee on National Finance that some type of consolidated cash budget statement be presented in future years in order to show cash movements between the Government and other sectors of the economy. This would reflect the extra-budgetary matters as well as budgetary matters and give a more accurate assessment of the impact of the public sector on the economy—especially as to its impact on financial markets, private sector liquidity, and the limitations placed upon monetary policy by the banking system's requirements to finance the government's borrowing needs. The Minister of Finance, in the budget of June 4, 1969, stated that the extra-budgetary requirements, excluding foreign exchange requirements, would add up to $650 million less the write-off of the $125 million federal share of the Expo deficit in the fiscal year 1969-70. Mr. Bryce, in his evidence, stated that as these extra-budgetary items are a significant part of the Government's economic activity they should receive greater prominence and scrutiny. The Committee shares this view, and welcomes his assurance that the Department of Finance is investigating more efficient programmes for analysis and control of these items.

8. In the evidence presented to the Committee, there existed a consensus among the witnesses that the Government's move to a position of fiscal constraint is appropriate. The economic indicators suggest that in the fiscal year 1969-70, there will be strong demand-pull inflationary pressures while elements of cost-push inflation remain worrisome. Indications as to the extent of inflation already present are found in the Canadian wholesale price index being 4.4 per cent higher in February 1969 than a year previous, in the consumer price index being 3.7 per cent higher, and in new wage rates negotiated in the fourth quarter of 1968 amounting to a 7.5 per cent increase. Moreover, it is expected that demand will be at least as strong in 1969-70, even though exports are expected to decrease substantially in their rate of growth to 10 per cent as compared to 19.4 per cent in 1968, and imports are expected to increase. This will be offset largely by increases in capital investment, and a continuing high level of consumer spending, and minor increases in inventory accumulation and government expenditures.

9. The Committee has concerned itself with the problem involved in the use of general deflationary measures to restrain aggregate demand because there is excess demand in some areas of Canada while other regions face widespread unemployment. The federal authorities in moving to dampen inflationary pressures in the highly-industrialized areas of Canada run the risk of accentuating unemployment in slow growth areas. Chart 1 showing the unemployment rates of Ontario and Quebec as a proportion of the national average unemployment rate indicates not only that regional disparity is a long-standing phenomenon, but that this disparity with respect to Ontario and Quebec seems to be increasing over the latter part of 1968 and early part of 1969. Your Committee finds this trend disturbing and believes the problem of regional disparity to be the major economic problem of the next decade. Furthermore, it supports Professor Neufeld's hypothesis that regional development programmes should be carried out regardless of the needs of aggregate stabilization policy.

10. The Committee has considered the probable impact of the proposed Federal Government expenditures on the economy, in both their short-term and long-term context: their impact on the short-term cyclical economic environment, and the consequences of monetary fiscal policy in attaining the economic goals of full employment and price stability; and their impact on the long-term efficiency, or productivity, or average standard of living of the nation. Attached hereto are charts and tables showing the trends of expenditures and revenues. When we look at the charts and tables relating to government expenditures, there appear some important trends. All levels of government expenditures on goods and services have increased only from 17.8 per cent of GNP in 1952 to 19.8 per cent of GNP in 1968, but sub-sectors of this classification show marked change. Federal government expenditures on goods and services until recently declined continuously as a proportion of GNP—from 10.4 per cent in 1952 to 6.6 per cent in 1968; this decline in the Federal Government's share, was due mainly to the decrease in defence expenditures though partially offset by the very marked increase in the 1960's in the non-defence sector. The municipal and provincial expenditures on goods and services have increased from 7.4 per cent of GNP in 1952 to 13.1 per cent in 1968. All levels of government transfer payments have also increased significantly—from 8.1 per cent of GNP in 1952 to 14.1 per cent in 1968. Both of these sectors combined show total expenditures increasing from 26.3 per cent of GNP in 1952 to 34.7 per cent in 1968. A glance at Table 4 will indicate the areas of expenditure responsible for the marked increase of the 1960's. Mr. Bryce's explanation of the increase in Federal Government expenditures can be divided into four areas, and this explanation is applicable to the experience of the provinces and municipalities. First, the government expenditures contain a high percentage of labor cost and are highly responsive to increasing wage and salary levels as well as rising prices. Second, population increases through high birth rates and substantial immigration in the post-war period, and the shift in the composition of the population from rural to urban, have led to increased demands, both quantitative and qualitative, for hospital services, water and sanitation, urban transport, the whole urban infrastructure, education facilities etc. Third, broad changes in social attitudes have led to the Federal Government's acceptance of public responsibility in such areas as higher education, old age security, up-grading the labor level of occupational training, financing research and development in science and technology. And fourth, the Federal Government's responsibility for alleviating regional disparities has developed from equalization of provincial revenue yields to upgrading the basic capital infrastructure of the areas where there is low economic growth.

11. The Senate Committee on National Finance in past reports, has recognized the problems imposed upon the Government by the above forces. The rate of increase of expenditures as Chart 2 shows accelerated in the mid 1960's, and it contributed to inflation, and created uncertainty in the private sector as to the Government's desire for and ability to maintain price stability. This led to the Committee's recommendation that government expenditures do not increase at rates greater than that of GNP when there are inflationary forces present. The Committee holds that this recommendation is still valid, and welcomes the real efforts of the Government to decrease the rate of increase of expenditures in the past two fiscal years. The Committee in its last report also expressed its concern as to the methods of Federal-Provincial cost-sharing programmes where the Federal Government has not had any control over the level or rate of growth of such programmes. This concern is again relevant as of the 9 per cent increase in the Estimates over the preceding year, one-half of this increase is explained by larger payments to the provinces in the form of unconditional fiscal transfers, and for grants in shared-cost programmes in health, welfare, and education. There were additional increases in public debt charges, but it is encouraging that the increase for all other Federal programmes and services provided through the budget were held to less than 4 per cent, which is less than the rate of increase in wages and prices in the country as a whole.

12. The increases in the public sector's share of GNP and the accompanying higher taxation levels in the 1960's have led the Senate Committee on National Finance to give serious consideration to the implications of this expansion for long-term economic prosperity and satisfaction of social objectives. The Government sector involves a significant portion of the nation's output, but there is an absence of detailed information with respect to the objectives of, and criteria for performance of major government spending commitments. Hence there remains the worry that the nation may not be efficiently allocating its resources in the Government sector. This lack of efficiency in utilization of resources, may take two forms. The first deals with waste in executing specific projects or procedures. The public sector has quite sophisticated machinery to handle this. The second deals with waste from inadequate economic and social benefits derived from given programmes. Your Committee stresses the need for developing procedures to clarify and determine goals and objectives; and to develop methods for providing a more accurate assessment of what certain goals will cost, how they may best be achieved, and what resources are required to meet various ends in relation to the resources available in our economy. The Committee recognizes that some work has been done in this area at all three levels of Government, but feels that such work has just scratched the surface and that great benefits can be derived from more intensive research and consolidation of findings.

13. The Senate Committee on National Finance feels that special attention should be directed towards setting up machinery to evaluate continuously the benefits derived from programmes already in existence, to ensure that they have not become obsolete, or that there are not other more efficient means of obtaining their objectives. The family allowance programme was used by Professors Neufeld and Forget and Dr. Smith as an example of a programme that raises considerable doubt as to whether it achieves its desired social objectives, and even worse, what the social objectives are. In his evidence Mr. Bryce said that it had been indicated publicly by the Prime Minister that the Family Allowance programme is being reviewed to see whether it should be modified and in what respect it should be done. On a more general level, your Committee recommends a review of the principle of universality in welfare schemes. There is a feeling present that those who really need welfare assistance are not getting it and many who do not need it are getting it. The arrival of more sophisticated accounting and administrative procedures make selective welfare programmes more feasible.

14. The Senate Committee on National Finance also heard evidence from Professors Neufeld and Forget and Dr. Smith on the merits of a ceiling on the national debt. All three did not support the idea of such a ceiling and considered that much greater benefits can be derived by the continuous application of efficiency criteria to government expenditures.

15. The Committee also heard evidence as to the comparison between Government expenditures and revenues of different countries, in order to relate Canada's experience of the 1960's with the rest of the world. The Committee recognizes the difficulties in making international comparisons, and the implications of differences in environment—geographical, social, economic, and political, on the economic involvement of the public sector.

Table 8 shows that in Canada total expenditures of all levels of government in 1968 was 34.7% of the GNP. The table also shows that in 1966 Canada's percentage at 32.2% was higher than that of the United States and Switzerland, but lower than six other major countries. While comparative statistics for later years are not available, the Minister of Finance stated in March of this year that the percentage in developed western nations is somewhere between 30 and 40 per cent of the GNP, and that Canada is about half way between those figures.

16. The Senate Committee on National Finance heard evidence from Professor C. L. Forget on the relative weight of taxation on incomes of individuals and families in Canada and the United States. Professor Forget did a similar study for the Royal Commission on taxation. In Table 10 he considers the comparative importance of expenditures on goods and services, and transfers to persons by Governments, and concludes that in Canada a high level of public purchases of goods and services plus comparatively liberal transfer payments have entailed a higher aggregate level of Government operations than has been the case in the U.S. This is even more pronounced when you omit the United States involvement in Vietnam. Then he concerns himself with how Government operations are financed, and concludes, as can be seen in Table 11, that the structure of taxes in Canada and the United States have been and are such as to minimize the impact through personal income taxes of the relatively more costly government sector in Canada. Canada is making far less intensive use of the personal income tax, but this is offset by a greater reliance on indirect taxation. Recent changes (since 1966) in the level of personal income tax, and social security contributions,—and in particular the Canada and Quebec Pension Plans, have increased the percentage contributions from these sources closer to the United States level—but a marked difference remains.

When we compare individuals and families in similar circumstances in Canada and the United States as to income tax paid, a rather disturbing paradox evolves. Tables 12, 13 and 14 indicate that the United States families in the middle and upper income levels pay substantially less income tax than their Canadian counterparts. This is a result of the lower ratio of taxable income to gross income which is due to the deduction of items such as mortgage interest, property taxes, state and local sales taxes, and state income taxes, as well as from a more liberal definition of what can be claimed as charitable donations.

Another advantage to married taxpayers is the possibility of filing joint returns. The paradox is resolved when you consider that there is a greater percentage of U.S. tax payers in the upper income brackets where a high income tax rate prevails. Table 9 shows this situation very graphically. It will be seen from it that 43.5% of Canadians have incomes under $4000 compared with 30.7% in the United States, and on the other hand only 5.8% of Canadians have incomes over $10,000 compared with 24.5% in the United States.

The Senate Committee on National Finance recommends strongly that in the present revamping of the Canadian tax structure, attention be given to decreasing this differential in income taxes between Canada and the United States in the middle income groups to decrease the incentives of these groups—the professional and management groups—to emigrate to the United States.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. D'ARCY LEONARD,
Chairman.

“It is the desire of the Right Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General, that they attend him immediately in the Senate Chamber.”

The House of Commons being come,

The Right Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to close the First Session of the Twenty-eighth Parliament of Canada, with the following Speech:—

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

The first session of the twenty-eighth Parliament was noteworthy both for the importance of the measures carried into law, and for the preparations set under way for further action in this Parliament.

Canadians were saddened during this session by the death of a distinguished and much respected former Governor General, Field Marshal The Right Honourable The Earl Alexander of Tunis. His gallant leadership in war and his devoted public service in peace won His Lordship the respect and affection of all Canadians.

Appreciative of the need for the effective administrative of our public affairs, you approved far-reaching changes in the organization of the Government and its departments, and procedures by which each of the chambers of Parliament discharges its public duties. The Department of Regional Economic Expansion, Communications, and Supply and Services were established. The rules of the House of Commons have undergone fundamental reform so that the Members of that chamber may undertake a more profound scrutiny of public affairs. Research assistance was provided to the leaders of the Opposition parties to enable them to better discharge their vital responsibilities.

Amongst the most important legislative contributions to the preservation of Canadian unity were steps taken to reduce inequalities of language rights and economic opportunities. The Official Languages Act recognized the right of Canadians to deal with federal government institutions in French or English. To combat regional economic disparities, you sanctioned the creation of the Department of Regional Economic Expansion and the enactment of the Regional Development Incentives Act.

During the session, the Government re-convened the Federal-Provincial Constitutional Conference to consider changes which a century of experience and the challenges of our time demand in our basic constitutional structures. Wide ranging proposals for constitutional reform continued to be studied by heads of governments and by their official representatives.

In pursuance of its objectives of justice and equality, the Government proposed a policy within which Canada's Indian peoples might overcome the discrimination, economic, legal and social, under which they have long suffered.

The Government has, as a result of its review of external and defence policies, undertaken fresh departures in foreign policy. It decided to re-align Canadian forces within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Negotiations were commenced with representatives of the People's Republic of China with the aim of establishing formal diplomatic relations with that government. Discussions between Canada and the Holy See resulted in the decision to exchange representation at the ambassadorial level. Canadian ministerial missions visited Japan and Latin America to explore possibilities of increased trade, investment and closer co-operation.

The Prime Minister attended the Conference in London of Commonwealth Prime Ministers and visited Washington at the invitation of the President of the United States. He and his colleagues received a number of leaders of other countries, including the Presidents of Niger and Tanzania; the Prime Ministers of Barbados, Lesotho, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand; the Foreign Ministers of the United Arab Republic, Belgium, Israel, Germany, Britain, Dahomey, Gabon, the Soviet Union, Italy and Burma; and the Secretaries-General of the United Nations and NATO.

Inflation continues to threaten the economy. Through fiscal and monetary policies, the establishment of a Prices and Incomes Commission, and strict control of its own expenditures, the Government is attempting to reduce the upward pressure on prices. Continued care by the Government and matching concern at other levels of government and in the private economy will be necessary, however, to contain cost and price increases within the limits of increased productivity.

The Canadian dollar has remained strong during a period of uncertainty in world foreign exchange markets. As one step toward the establishment of a larger liquidity base for international trade, you have approved changes in the Bretton Woods Agreement to establish special drawing rights.

You have also approved amendments to the Customs Tariff for the purpose of implementing Canadian undertakings in the Kennedy Round Trade negotiations. At the same time, you approved the Anti-Dumping Act and the creation of an anti-dumping tribunal to protect Canadian producers from unfair trading practices. As a further aid to the competitive position of Canadian producers on world markets, you have established the Export Development Corporation with broad financial powers to facilitate sales to foreign customers.

You have approved amendments to the Estate Tax Act, and to the gift tax provisions of the Income Tax Act, which will ensure a fairer distribution of the burden of taxation. Other amendments to the Income Tax Act with relation to insurance and banking institutions will have the same effect.

The Government has initiated a thorough review of the present social security system and of veterans' pensions. Parliament has approved amendments to the National Housing Act to expand the powers of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to assist limited dividend and non-profit housing companies. You also increased the funds available for housing loans to individuals and revised the terms on which such loans may be made.

At no session since the Criminal Code was introduced in Canada have there been such extensive and fundamental amendments of the criminal law. The amendments which you approved reflected the concern of Canadians that criminal sanctions be employed to protect public order, but not to enforce private beliefs.

It was this concern about the use of legal controls to regulate private conduct which caused the Government to establish a committee of enquiry into the non-medical use of drugs.

You have directed your attention to the high cost of the medical use of drugs and by assuring competition in their production and sale without prejudice to safety standards, you have strengthened the position of Canadian consumers.

You have also approved legislation that will protect Canadian consumers from the dangers of certain hazardous products which may be available on our markets.

In order to improve the quality of health, recreation and competitive sport in Canada, the Government tabled the Report of the Task Force on Sport and implemented a substantial number of its recommendations.

Labour disputes of major concern to the national interest were considered by Parliament. Anxious to improve many aspects of management-labour relations, the Government tabled a Task Force Report on Labour Relations which will provide the background for legislation to be introduced in the next session.

During this session, you have enacted a number of measures to give financial assistance to the farming community. You have extended the provisions of the Prairie Grain Advance Payment Act to provide further liquidity to the farmers of Western Canada. The Farm Improvement Loans Act, the Farm Syndicates Credit Act, and the Farm Credit Act have all been expanded in their application. You have approved a measure to regulate plant quarantine, and to provide or extend compensation for losses due to pesticide residues, animal contagious diseases, and plants destroyed to prevent the spread of disease.

A new measure which you have enacted established the Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation to improve marketing opportunities for the fisheries industries of Western Canada. The Government has also provided special assistance to the producers of the Atlantic fisheries to help them through a difficult period.

The creation of the new Department of Communications sought to consolidate the responsibilities of the Government of Canada in that field and to assure that recent advances in technology would be made available to Canadians. You approved amendments to the Post Office Act, and a study of the future development of the Post Office was undertaken. An imaginative piece of legislation established Telesat Canada which will provide this country with communications from a synchronous satellite early in the next decade.

In the face of encouraging prospects of resource development in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, you have approved the Oil and Gas Production and Conservation Act which will provide a new system for the orderly development of oil and gas resources.

A number of other important items of legislation were approved in this first session of the twenty-eighth Parliament which has been distinguished by innovation and reform. This creditable record is the beginning of a comprehensive program of legislation which must be enacted if we are to achieve our common goals of peace, justice and national prosperity.

Members of the House of Commons:

Thank you for the provision you have made for the public services in the previous and current fiscal year.

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

May Divine Providence continue to bless our country.

The Honourable the Speaker of the Senate then said:

"Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

It is the will and pleasure of the Right Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General that this Parliament be prorogued until ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon tomorrow, Thursday, the 23rd day of October, 1969, to be here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued until ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon tomorrow, the 23rd day of October, 1969."
